Kutarq Studio

Zao is a new armchair by Kutarq Studio for Kendo. Leading Kutarq Studio, architect and designer Jordi López Aguiló designs lighting, objects and furniture with a unique and pragmatic perspective. Each project involves a methodical process that emphasizes both material and research. With the constant challenge of revealing the “soul” behind his objects, he offers their users not just an aesthetic piece but rather a design with personality and a life of its own.

ZAO CONCEPT

Zao armchair's distinctive design revolves around its crafting utilizing only straight-cut solid wood boards. The thoroughly defined proportions between elements achieve an eye-catching, yet balanced and functional piece.

The legs and armrests are joined forming a rectangular structure that frames both backrest and seat. All the different parts' lengths and the angle in which they intersect are meticulously defined to ensure optimal comfort.

Serene, honest in materials and with a sturdy construction, the armchair is built to last. The beauty of wood is highlighted and provides a natural feeling wich brings a sense of calmness. Zao becomes a beloved element of people's living spaces that withstands the test of time.
